Assignment #1 Bluefish (by Pat Schmatz)

After reading the book, choose one of the following:

1. Draw a character web depicting the relationships between various characters in the novel. Write each of the character's names on a large sheet of paper or poster board, leaving as much space around them as possible. Around each name write:

--a description of the character (age, appearance, family background, job, skills, interests, etc.)

--adjectives to describe his/her personality

--quotes from the book which give insight into his/her character (Don't forget quotation marks.)

Draw lines to connect each of the characters who have a relationship in the book, and along these lines write a brief description of the relationship.

OR

2. Imagine that you have to come up with an alternate title for the book. Choose a title that conveys your understanding of the book's themes, characters, or mood. Then design a new book jacket featuring this title. Think particularly about how you can use visual techniques such as color, font, framing, composition, and symbols to emphasize your key ideas.

Assignment #2 Night (by Elie Wiesel)

Before reading Elie Wiesel's memoir, Night, preview the following youtube clip giving you background into the Holocaust and Elie's experience. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=15sM_av9i3Q

A. After watching the video create a typed response (100-150 words) to the idea that American soldiers have infiltrated your neighborhood and forced you to live in small confined communities, known as ghettos. All your rights have been taken away, and you are not allowed to leave the ghetto because if you do, you will be shot and killed.

B. After reading the book, respond to the last slide of the video which states, "He wrote this book for you, with the hope that telling his story would prevent such a horrid event from ever happening again." Has this book and his story kept horrid events, such as the Holocaust, from happening in our world today? Are there modern day injustices such as the Holocaust still occurring? Explore these thoughts in a short, typed essay (150-200 words).

C. Choose five significant quotes from Night. Copy each quote and explain how/why the chosen quote is significant to that particular chapter or the overall storyline. The quotes and analysis should be typed and written in complete sentences.
